Members ATM Alliance Steps Up to Support Credit Unions Amid ATM Industry Disruption

TALLAHASSEE, FL – Members ATM Alliance (MAA), a LEVERAGE-managed CUSO, is pleased to announce the acquisition of ShareNet, Inc.'s operations and active contracts—further strengthening its commitment to delivering reliable ATM and ITM outsourcing services for credit unions nationwide.

As disruption hit the ATM space, many credit unions were left without reliable service. In response, ShareNet founder Ray Davis—who had previously stepped away after the company's sale—returned to restore operations when terminals across Florida, New York, Arizona, and New Mexico went dark. His efforts ensured continued service for credit unions and ultimately led to the transition of ShareNet's operations to Members ATM Alliance.

MAA provides flexible, affordable ATM and ITM outsourcing designed for credit unions. Through this acquisition, MAA expands its Nationwide service footprint to 17 additional credit union partners. These institutions will now benefit from uninterrupted access to essential ATM and ITM support delivered by a proven, credit union-focused provider.

“This move isn’t just about growth—it’s about showing up for credit unions when it matters most,” said Kyle Fowler, Vice President of MAA. “As other providers exited the market, we saw a clear opportunity to lead with stability, innovation, and purpose. We’re proud to step in, expand our reach, and ensure credit unions have a trusted partner they can count on—now and into the future.”
